Eligibility and enrollment

Full-time employees scheduled for 30 or more hours a week are eligible on their first day. You may cover your spouse or domestic partner and your children to age 26.

New hires have 30 days from their start date to enroll. For the January 4, 2027 new-hire cohort, the enrollment deadline is February 3, 2027. Coverage is retroactive to your start date.

If you miss the deadline, you can change your elections only at open enrollment each November, or within 30 days of a qualifying life event such as marriage, birth or adoption, or losing other coverage.

Medical plans at a glance

We offer three medical plans through the same national carrier network. All three cover the same services, and in-network preventive care is free on every plan.

PPO 750: the highest paycheck cost and the lowest deductible. Copays for office visits start right away.

PPO 1500: a middle option, with a lower paycheck cost and a higher deductible.

HDHP with HSA: the lowest paycheck cost and the highest deductible. It is the only plan that lets you open a Health Savings Account, and the company adds money to it (see page 5).

Medical plan costs

Premiums below are your share, taken from each of your 26 biweekly paychecks before taxes.

Biweekly employee cost	PPO 750	PPO 1500	HDHP with HSA
Employee only	$62.00	$38.00	$18.00
Employee + spouse	$148.00	$102.00	$64.00
Employee + children	$128.00	$88.00	$55.00
Family	$215.00	$160.00	$104.00
Deductible, employee only	$750	$1,500	$3,400
Deductible, family	$1,500	$3,000	$6,800
Out-of-pocket max, employee only	$3,500	$5,000	$6,500
Out-of-pocket max, family	$7,000	$10,000	$13,000
Coinsurance after deductible	20%	20%	10%

Family deductibles and out-of-pocket maximums apply to every tier that covers a dependent.

Health Savings Account (HSA)

If you enroll in the HDHP with HSA, the company contributes to your HSA each year: $500 per year for employee-only coverage, or $1,000 per year for any tier that covers a dependent. The company contribution is deposited in equal amounts each paycheck.

You can add your own pre-tax money up to the annual IRS limit, which includes the company's contribution. See irs.gov for the current year's limit.

An HSA has three tax benefits: money goes in before tax, grows without tax, and comes out without tax for qualified medical expenses. The account is yours to keep if you leave the company.

Flexible Spending Account (FSA)

PPO members can set aside pre-tax money in a health care FSA, up to the annual IRS limit. Unused FSA money above the carryover amount is lost at the end of the plan year. You cannot have a health care FSA and an HSA at the same time.

Dental and vision

Dental: $50 deductible, preventive cleanings covered at 100%, $1,500 annual maximum. Biweekly cost: $4.50 employee only, $12.00 family.

Vision: $10 exam copay, $150 frame allowance every 24 months. Biweekly cost: $1.80 employee only, $4.75 family.

401(k) retirement plan

You can save from 1% to 75% of your eligible pay in the 401(k), as traditional pre-tax, Roth after-tax, or both, up to the annual IRS limit.

Company match: the company contributes 50 cents for every dollar you contribute, on the first 6% of your eligible pay. To receive the full match, which equals 3% of your pay, you must contribute at least 6%.

Automatic enrollment: new hires are enrolled at 3% of pay unless they choose a different rate within 30 days.

Vesting: your own contributions are always 100% yours. Company match contributions vest 20% per year of service and are fully vested after 5 years.

Employee Stock Purchase Plan (ESPP)

The ESPP lets you buy company stock at a 15% discount through payroll deductions. You may contribute 1% to 15% of your eligible pay, after taxes.

The plan has six-month offering periods, starting January 1 and July 1. Shares are bought on the last trading day of each period.

The plan includes a lookback: the purchase price is 85% of the lower of the stock price on the first day or the last day of the offering period.

Holding period: shares bought through the ESPP cannot be sold for 180 days after the purchase date.

You cannot buy more than $25,000 of stock, valued at the start of each offering period, in any calendar year, or more than 750 shares in any one offering period.

Life and disability insurance

Basic life insurance of one times your annual salary is provided at no cost. You may buy supplemental life coverage for yourself, your spouse, and your children.

Short-term disability pays 60% of your salary for up to 12 weeks, after a 7-day waiting period, at no cost to you. Long-term disability pays 60% of your salary, up to $10,000 a month, after 90 days.
